1	Accounting	Accounting and Reporting for Defined Contribution Plans	1.0	In 2020, the Pension Rights Center reported that one out of three older adults received income from private company or union pension plans; federal, state, or local government pension plans; or railroad retirement, military, or veterans' pensions. The need to properly administer and account for pension funds is critical. There are very specific requirements for pension accounting. ASC 715 Compensation-Retirement Benefits provides guidance on financial reporting for employers who offer pension benefits to their employees. ASC 962 Plan Accounting-Defined Contribution Pension Plans address the plan accounting standards for defined benefit plans and defined contribution plans respectively. Those detailed calculations of pension cost and reporting requirements produce a complex accounting standard.	03/31/24	QAS Self-Study
2	Accounting	Accounting for Business Combinations v4.0	4.0	This course provides an overview of the accounting for business combinations. The accounting and reporting requirements relating to business combinations are outlined within Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 805, Business Combinations. The objective of ASC 805 is to improve the relevance, representational faithfulness, and comparability of the information that an entity provides in its financials for business combinations. This course reflects information current through the issuance of ASU 2019-06 which provided certain relief for not-for-profit entities. Speaker/Author: Kelen F. 4	Accounting	Accounting for Foreign Currency v2.0	2.0	In today's modern economy, the growth of foreign operations is continuing upward and the number of companies with foreign operations has expanded. For example, a company often operates in different economic and currency environments to stay competitive in the global marketplace. Thus, it must have a process for reporting foreign currency balances to address several financial reporting issues, such as determining functional currencies, accounting for foreign currency transactions, and translating its foreign entity's financial statements. ASC 830 Foreign Currency Matters provides guidance for transactions denominated in a foreign currency, and for operations undertaken in a foreign currency environment. This course covers key aspects of the guidance and includes specific examples to illustrate its application. Relevant references to and excerpts from ASC 830 are discussed throughout the course.	08/31/23	QAS Self-Study

7	Accounting	Accounting for Leases - Part II: The Application of the Lease Standard	4.0	Historically, lease accounting has been straightforward: a capital lease vs. an operating lease. An operating lease is treated as an off-balance sheet operating expense. The FASB issued ASU 2016-02, Leases (ASC 842) in response to the growing need for transparency and comparability among organizations. The basic concept of ASC 842 is that leases of all types convey the right to direct the use and obtain substantially all the economic benefit of an identified asset, creating an asset and liability for lessees. Thus, the most significant change requires lessees to recognize the rights and obligations resulting from all leases (greater than 12 months) as assets and liabilities on their balance sheets. Although the lessor accounting is largely unchanged from ASC 840, there are some important changes and more disclosure requirements. For example, certain principles of the lessor model are updated to align with changes to the lessee model and the revenue recognition standard (ASC 606). As a result, ASC 842 brings additional scrutiny from enterprise leaders, auditors, and regulators. This course series, Parts I, II and III, is designed to help you navigate the complexities of this standard. It explains financial accounting and reporting requirements for lessees and lessors with specific examples to illustrate the application. It also includes public business entities' reporting responsibilities and explains how ASC 842 affects a company's financial results. Finally, it shares insights that help companies develop a reasonable leasing policy threshold, maintain effective internal control over leases, and prepare for audits.	09/30/2024	QAS Self-Study

367	Taxes	Property Dispositions - 2022	2.0	Tax reform provisions have frequently changed the tax on profits realized from the disposition of real estate. This has forced investors to seek “escape hatches” from fluctuating capital gains taxes. Tax-deferred exchanges permit the disposition of property often with the taxpayer receiving significant cash but without the payment of any tax. Functionally, an exchange is a “bridge” over the normally taxable event of moving from one property to another. This course alerts the practitioner to the different planning opportunities that	07/31/23	QAS Self-Study

369	Taxes	S Corporations - 2022	3.0	In this course, the intricacies of setting up and terminating an S corporation are detailed and taxation is discussed. The numerous advantages and disadvantages of this entity are identified to help practitioners determine whether the S corporation is most suitable for their clients. Eligible domestic corporations can avoid double taxation by electing to be treated as an S corporation under the rules of Subchapter S. Subchapter S provides an optional method of corporate taxation and allows small business corporations to elect unusual tax treatment. The S corporation is taxed like a partnership, but in other respects, S corporations are taxed like C corporations. Author/Speaker: Danny Santucci	07/31/23	QAS Self-Study
370	Taxes	Selected Business Expenses – 2023	2.00	Business expenses are the costs of carrying on a trade or business, and they are usually deductible if the business is operated to make a profit. This course reviews various expenses that businesses may deduct and the requirements that must be met for those expenses to qualify for deduction. Furthermore, practitioners can use this as a guide to determine which of their clients’ taxes are deductible as business expenses.	02/29/2024	QAS Self-Study
